

Why Did She Do It?

JUSTINE JOHNSTONE.
New York, May 24.—There are some queer things that happen in the theatrical business, but one of the strangest was the recent desertion of Justine Johnstone, the most famous beauty on the American stage, who gave up a position in musical comedy where she was earning $500 a week to accept a position at $50 a week. Miss Johnstone has been a star in Ziegfeld's Follies, with the Winter Garden and Charles Dillingham's musical shows and did not have to leave Broadway, where she is a big favorite. She decided that really she did not have a voice of sufficient merit to entitle her to a permanent stellar position. That the day would come when some other beauty would challenge her position as the biggest New York favorite and then her star would go into eclipse. Miss Johnstone obtained an engagement with a stock company at Waterbury, Conn. Here she is compelled to play two shows a day, rehearse every morning and on Sundays, when they do not play, spend the entire day in the theater rehearsing. She has given up her automobiles, town house, and all the comforts of a much petted musical comedy star to work hard and fit herself with the technique of the spoken drama.

WINNIPEG STRIKE RESTS ON OTHER DOMINION CITIES

[By Associated Press.]
Winnipeg, Man., May 24.—A notice issued by George A. Watson, commissioner of the Manitoba government, orders all telephone employees, on strike to resume work by noon Monday. Failure to do so means dismissal from the service, the order states. The central strike committee last night called out the long distance operators at various telephone exchanges in country districts.

Settlement of the general strike here today rested squarely upon the effect which an order calling off the sympathetic walkout would have on union councils in other dominion cities. All unions seem to have been tentatively agreed upon except the demand that the strike leaders must assume full responsibility for the general strike and restore local conditions to normal before an agreement with the employers can be concluded.

Strike Action Censured.
Various actions of the central strike committee have been censured by federal and municipal governments. The Winnipeg press; the Winnipeg citizens' committee and Mayor Charles A. Gray. Union men have been told by members of general conciliation conference committee that industrial employers will recognize collective bargaining until the sympathetic strike is called off. The strike committee has refused a special meeting to inquire the strike method of the union forces.

ALBANY YOUTH IS DROWNED IN RIVER

[By Special Correspondent.]
Albany, May 24.—Floyd Bump, 17, an old son of Mrs. Cora Bump, was drowned in Sugar river, about a mile north of Albany last evening. He had been out canoeing, and according to the coroner's decision had a fainting spell, capsizing the canoe. The empty canoe was found floating down the river about 7 o'clock and a searching party started out. The body was found on the east side of the river near the stone quarry about 10 o'clock. The boy was a student in high school. The Bump family formerly lived in Janesville, the father dying there about five years ago, after which the mother took the children to the Albany home. The mother, one sister, Alice, aged about 12, and one brother, Walter, aged 10, survive him. An aunt who makes her home with them, a grandmother, and an uncle in New York, are also surviving members of the immediate family.

FINNS ADVANCE ON PETROGRAD AMID LOUD EXPLOSIONS

London, May 24.—Great fires and loud explosions occurred in and around Petrograd, according to reports forwarded by the Daily Mail's correspondent. It is believed that the Bolsheviks, pressed by the Estonian advance, are destroying the munitions in Petrograd. Machine gun fire also has been heard in Petrograd and it is reported that the population has risen against the Bolsheviks.

A great change has come over the situation in Russia through the suddenness of the various anti-Bolshevik forces there.

Official and unofficial news shows that Petrograd is closely threatened by the advance of the Estonian and Lithuanian forces on either side of the Gulf of Finland and by that of Gen. Mannerheim in the region of Lake Onega, while Bolsheviks are on the Archangel front.

The Daily Telegraph says the British and allied policy of helping the Russian opponents of the Bolsheviks to help themselves still remains in force. It says that the situation today is that the movement led by Koleshak is in a fair way to swamp out Bolshevikism.

Admiral Koleshak, it is added, is being assisted by British non-combatant troops commanded by Col. John Ward, a laborite and a socialist.

WILL PROSECUTE ANY PERSON USING OTHER THAN PUBLIC DUMPS

A penalty is provided for persons throwing refuse in any other place than the two public dumps, Alderman W. J. Hill, chairman of the public dumps and carting committee of the health and sanitation board, said today.

"The abuse of dumping privileges will not be tolerated in the future. Violators will be dealt with to the limit of the law."

"I wish to emphasize that there are only two public dumps in the city—one along the river in the Fourth ward and one along the river in the Second ward. These are the only ones to be used."

"Many citizens, apparently careless of their own premises, have little thought and consideration for the premises of their fellows. This is evidenced by the fact that many are making use of the property of others as a public dumping ground. The fact that a piece of property is vacant gives no right or privilege to anyone, not even the owner, to use it as a refuse pile. Dumping of garbage must stop."

"This health campaign which is fostered by the city, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Rotary club, is a step forward. It will aid largely along the prevention lines. It is bound to rid homes and factories of accumulations of rubbish and it is bound to start fires. Let me urge that our people avail themselves of this opportunity to make a cleaner, safer and a better Janesville."

HUMPEACE ENVOYS BACK FROM SPA

TREATY TO BE PRESENTED TO AUSTRIANS BY WEDNESDAY.

MILITARY TERMS ARE CONSIDERED

Naval and Army Provisions Sweeping; All Warships To Be Surrendered.

[By Associated Press.]
Versailles, May 24.—Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau and the other members of the German peace delegation who went to Spa Thursday returned here this morning with the exception of Dr. Theo. Melchior, the financial expert. All the members of the party seemed in good spirits.

Work on Austrian Treaty.
Paris, May 24.—The Council of Four today continued the investigation of the economic clauses of the Austrian peace treaty, calling in experts for consultation. It is still expected that the treaty will be ready for presentation to the Austrians Wednesday.

It was announced tonight that the treaty to be presented to Austria would be considered at a plenary session next Tuesday.

Consider Military Terms.
The Council of Four today considered the military terms as framed by Marshal Foch. General Diaz and other military leaders, Austria's formidable army of upwards of a million men, which was second to that of Germany, is only reduced by the treaty to 150,000 men. Actually in military supplies would be surrendered or destroyed and further military production abolished.

The naval terms are similarly sweeping, all warships being surrendered and Austria's position as a naval power terminated.

Still Much Business.
The American delegation has prepared a memorandum showing the status of affairs before the peace conference on the conclusion of the Austrian treaty. This discloses that the military terms are still to be considered, besides the Turkish and Bulgarian treaties, covering the whole range of international subjects. The conference will continue for a considerable time after the treaties have been signed and President Wilson has left, it being expected that the other American members will remain in conference until all matters still requiring attention, head of the German peace mission, and his colleagues conferred yesterday at Spa with Philipp Schuler, president of the Reichstag, Bernhard Durnburg and Count Von Bernstorff.

In the evening Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau left for Versailles to approve of the "fairness, justice and precision" of the reply of the peace conference to the notes of Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau. The reply, he said, discloses the determination of the conference to obtain all desirable reparations.

NEWSPAPERS TOLD 14 POINTS

London, Friday, May 23.—An appeal signed by a number of professors and others, including the Bishop of Oxford, Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labour party in the house of commons and H. G. Wells, John Masefield, Lady Gilbert, George A. Murray and Jerome K. Jerome, authors, has been published here, urging the president of the terms of peace on the ground that they belie the spirit of the 14 points of President Wilson.

The appeal declares that the terms constitute a breach of faith with the peace-loving people of Germany to the position of a subject nation. It concludes with a statement that on such a basis "it is impossible to establish any true league of nations."

GERMAN OLIGARCHY IS TOLD BY GRELLING

[By Associated Press.]
Zurich, Switzerland, Friday, May 23.—Military oligarchy is being formed in Germany, according to Dr. Richard Grelling, the author of "Accuse" who has just returned here from Munich.

The oligarchy is more powerful than the Scheidemann government, he declared, as the government only manages to remain in power with the support of the military caste and of mercenary troops.

"The army created by the government," Dr. Grelling continued, "is well disciplined, well fed and well paid. The government can no longer act as it desires because it can do nothing against the will of the generals who tolerate the present cabinet for lack of a more suitable one. The situation in Germany is developing in a dangerous manner. The military caste is not yet thinking of the restoration of the monarchy but who can say what will happen later?"

STILL RAINS IN AZORES; NC-4 AWAITS SUN

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, May 24.—Weather conditions still were unfavorable for the naval seaplane NC-4's start from Ponta Delgada for Lisbon today. A message announcing the flight would not be returned until the weather improved.

The seaplane was received by the navy from Admiral Jackson at Ponta Delgada this morning, but caused no disappointment, as weather forecasts had indicated continuation of storms in the vicinity of the Azores.

Hines Asks R. R. Funds

Washington, May 24.—Appropriation of $1,000,000 in addition to $500,000 already provided for use of the railroad administration during 1918 and 1919 was requested today by Director-General Hines. The estimate revealed that there had been an operating deficit of $236,184,940 during the last calendar year and of $250,000,000 during the first four months of 1919. Of the total of $1,500,000,000 appropriated and requested, Mr. Hines said that $1,214,000,000 eventually would be returned to the government.

PEACE—and WAR

[By Associated Press.]
Consultation of German peace delegates at Spa with members of the home government from Berlin preliminary to the presentation of Germany's formal reply to the allied peace terms, has resulted in an apparent pause in developments at Paris and Versailles, so far as the making of peace with Germany is concerned.

The peace conference has been by no means idle, however, but has been devoting much attention to the shaping of the peace treaty to be presented to the Austrian delegates. It has been announced that at a plenary session Tuesday next the treaty with Austria will be formally laid before the representatives of the allied nations assembled at Paris. The next day, it is expected, the representatives of the Austrian peace delegates will be heard.

The military terms of the document, it is understood, will provide that Austria's great army, in 1914 second only to that of Germany, be reduced to 100,000 men, and that the navy be limited to 15,000 men. All implements of war now in the hands of the Austrians are to be destroyed and the further manufacture of munitions is to be forbidden. The terms, published in part some time ago, sweep away the whole Austrian navy.

Dispatches from Paris indicate that the work of the peace conference will not end with the signing of the treaties between the allies and the central empires, Bulgaria and Turkey. It is said that the work of adjusting conflicting views on such subjects as the future of the Balkans is likely to take considerable time. It is believed therefore, that American representatives will stay after the peace has been made. President Wilson has left for the United States to consider with the representatives of other governments the various problems still demanding attention.

FARM HAND KILLED BY C. & N. W. TRAIN NEAR EVANSVILLE

[By Special Correspondent.]
Evansville, May 24.—Frederick Heighman, farm hand, was instantly killed by a southbound C. & N. W. train near Evansville this morning. An early morning fog is thought to have been the reason why he failed to see the approaching train in time.

The mangled body was brought here to await the arrival of County Coroner Lynn A. Whaley, from Janesville. The inquest will probably be held Monday.

Heighman took a herd of cattle to pasture this morning and failed to return. A search for him followed with the result that his body was found near the track.

HUNDRED IN PERIL AS FIRE RAGES

SAFETY OF NUMBER OF PASSENGERS FEARED BY COMPANY OFFICIALS.

3 NEGRO FIREMEN KNOWN TO BE DEAD

Survivors Show Indications Of Terror-Filled Night; Caught In Sleep.

(By Associated Press.)
Norfolk, Va., May 24.—Alfred Coleman, negro, was arrested here this afternoon by the federal authorities on the charge of setting fire to the Virginia. The warrant was sworn out by a stevedore employed on the Virginia.

Norfolk, Va., May 24.—Fears are entertained by officials of the Old Bay Line Steamship company for the safety of a number of passengers on the steamer Virginia, burned to the water's edge at Smiths Point in Chesapeake Bay this morning. More than a hundred survivors were brought to Norfolk on the steamer City of Norfolk and the remainder were taken to Baltimore and Washington. Three negro firemen are known to have perished.

The survivors, half clothed and showing every indication of a terror-filled night, could hardly give a coherent account of the disaster. The majority of them were asleep when the fire was discovered.

156 Passengers on Board.
Baltimore, May 24.—The Old Bay liner Virginia, bound to Norfolk from Baltimore with 156 passengers and a full cargo of miscellaneous freight, was burned to the water's edge near the mouth of the Potomac river last night.

Commander George V. Daws U. S. N., who was a passenger on board the steamer Florida, one of the rescuing ships, stated here today, he believed 10 or 15 miles away from the burning Virginia was noticed.

Passengers and members of the crew were picked up by at least four other steamers and taken to both Norfolk and Baltimore. The origin was undetermined.

The steamer was valued at about $700,000.

The steamer City of Annapolis also of the Chesapeake line, arrived here this morning with four passengers of the Virginia. Captain Dougherty said his ship was about 10 miles away when the burning Virginia was noticed.

He proceeded to the spot. When he arrived close to the Virginia he found that the fire was blazing so fiercely that the vessel was approaching her. He picked up the four survivors who were in a lifeboat. The steamers City of Baltimore with about 100 passengers of the Virginia and the Florida with 100 passengers and members of the City of Annapolis into port. Capt. W. G. Lane of the Virginia was aboard the Florida. He was said to be in the city but to what extent was not known.

Capt. V. G. Lane of the burned steamer, whose hands were badly burned, said he did not see any one else on the burning steamer. He saw three boats capsized, but he believed the occupants were all saved.

Stories as to the behavior of those aboard the vessel conflict. Some of the survivors said there was no panic and a little excitement except when a few little children were seen. There was confusion around the life boats and that in one instance a male passenger who observed that a number of men were about to jump into the sea and that it was not until they drew a revolver and threatened the men if they persisted.

AMERICA AS DRY AS SAHARA, IS AIM OF PROHIBITIONISTS

[By International News.]
Washington, May 24.—America as dry as the Sahara. That is what prohibition advocates in the senate are striving for as they work to work to attempt to round up a sufficient number of votes to pass the prohibition enforcement acts which were introduced yesterday by Senators Sheppard, democrat; and Jones, of Washington, republican, the two leading prohibition legislators on the senate side.

Little definite success met the efforts of the prohibition workers who were busy in the capitol today. The great majority of members of congress were shying from any attitude on promises as to their future attitude on prohibition, until some definite stand has developed which will show whether or not the congress will follow the president's recommendation that prohibition on light wines and beer be repealed. Only the most ardent prohibitionists seemed willing to go ahead at the present time to fight for a totally dry America.

The enforcement measures which were introduced yesterday have rather surprised a number of members of congress. Already there is opposition to an appropriation of $3,500,000 for the enforcement of the prohibition laws by a proposed prohibition commissioner.

Gov. Philipp Issues Proclamation for Memorial Day
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, May 24.—Gov. E. L. Philipp today issued the following "Memorial Day" proclamation:
"The defense of our country and the protection of our ideals is government have caused the American people to make great sacrifice of human life and treasure. Those who came forward to defend the American flag and the institutions for which it stands are held in grateful remembrance by our citizens.
"For many years it has been our custom to assemble and review the patriotic services rendered by our soldiers and sailors during the days of the Civil war when our patriotic citizens offered their lives that this union of states might be preserved and the republic might live.
"This year a new army is returning from the field of battle where it made its sacrifices in the interest of human freedom and American institutions and the beautiful custom which we have established to do honor to our heroes of former wars may with perfect propriety be applied to the gallant American soldiers and sailors who fought for our country in the Great World War.
"On this solemn occasion I wish to remind our people that many Wisconsin boys are buried overseas and that it is desirable that wherever services are held special mention should be made of those who are slumbering in foreign lands and that we offer consolation to the bereaved parents and relatives of those who will not again return to us.
"As we gather to do honor to the brave men and women who fought our battles and brought victory to us let us pause to thank God that the great world war has been brought to a close, that our armies were victorious and that our soldiers and sailors have returned to us with new honors won for the American flag and the nation for which it stands. Let us pray that our country may not again become involved in war and that the light of peace may lead the world for all time.
"The people of Wisconsin, in conformity with federal law, have provided a day to be observed in the honor of those of whom I have spoken. Therefore, I, Emanuel L. Philipp, governor of the state of Wisconsin, hereby designate Friday, May 30, Memorial day and I earnestly remind the people of their duty to keep it memorable. I request that the people meet in the schools and churches and other public meeting places and devote their patriotic songs to decorate the graves of our soldiers and sailors and do those things which bring the hearts of the people closer to the folds of this great republic, which is our beloved home."

Kin of Lincoln Reaches Century Mark; Taboo Boozed and Tobacco
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Philadelphia, May 24.—The wish of Abraham Lincoln's friends, oft expressed, that he might live to be a hundred years old has come true, the former having just celebrated the occasion that many years in the world. Mr. Lincoln, who is still going strong, has asked his friends to raise the ante 10 years more now that he has passed the century mark. Congratulatory letters and birthday cards from Chicago and Lincoln were received by the aged man on his natal day, while friends here literally showered him with flowers.
Asked for a recipe for such a long life, Mr. Lincoln replied that they were activity, optimism and temperance, with the occult on the last qualification.
Lincoln thinks that though prohibition will come in a day, it will arrive eventually. Awaiting that happy time he is still taboos tobacco and alcohol, as he has done all his life, and is eating his three square meals, though not directly related to Abraham Lincoln, some connection exists generations back. His grandfather fought in the revolution and his grandsons are veterans of the civil war. He was born in New England.

Those who came forward to defend the American flag and the institutions for which it stands are held in grateful remembrance by our citizens.

"For many years it has been our custom to assemble and review the patriotic services rendered by our soldiers and sailors during the days of the Civil war when our patriotic citizens offered their lives that this union of states might be preserved and the republic might live.

"This year a new army is returning from the field of battle where it made its sacrifices in the interest of human freedom and American institutions and the beautiful custom which we have established to do honor to our heroes of former wars may with perfect propriety be applied to the gallant American soldiers and sailors who fought for our country in the Great World War.

"On this solemn occasion I wish to remind our people that many Wisconsin boys are buried overseas and that it is desirable that wherever services are held special mention should be made of those who are slumbering in foreign lands and that we offer consolation to the bereaved parents and relatives of those who will not again return to us.

"As we gather to do honor to the brave men and women who fought our battles and brought victory to us let us pause to thank God that the great world war has been brought to a close, that our armies were victorious and that our soldiers and sailors have returned to us with new honors won for the American flag and the nation for which it stands. Let us pray that our country may not again become involved in war and that the light of peace may lead the world for all time.

"The people of Wisconsin, in conformity with federal law, have provided a day to be observed in the honor of those of whom I have spoken. Therefore, I, Emanuel L. Philipp, governor of the state of Wisconsin, hereby designate Friday, May 30, Memorial day and I earnestly remind the people of their duty to keep it memorable. I request that the people meet in the schools and churches and other public meeting places and devote their patriotic songs to decorate the graves of our soldiers and sailors and do those things which bring the hearts of the people closer to the folds of this great republic, which is our beloved home."

Kin of Lincoln Reaches Century Mark; Taboo Boozed and Tobacco
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Philadelphia, May 24.—The wish of Abraham Lincoln's friends, oft expressed, that he might live to be a hundred years old has come true, the former having just celebrated the occasion that many years in the world. Mr. Lincoln, who is still going strong, has asked his friends to raise the ante 10 years more now that he has passed the century mark. Congratulatory letters and birthday cards from Chicago and Lincoln were received by the aged man on his natal day, while friends here literally showered him with flowers.

Asked for a recipe for such a long life, Mr. Lincoln replied that they were activity, optimism and temperance, with the occult on the last qualification. Lincoln thinks that though prohibition will come in a day, it will arrive eventually. Awaiting that happy time he is still taboos tobacco and alcohol, as he has done all his life, and is eating his three square meals, though not directly related to Abraham Lincoln, some connection exists generations back. His grandfather fought in the revolution and his grandsons are veterans of the civil war. He was born in New England.

ISHII'S RETURN DUE TO LANGUAGE MIX-UP?

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tokio, May 24.—It is understood that the forthcoming return of Viscount Ishii, the Japanese ambassador to Washington, is connected with a misunderstanding concerning the appointment of a financial adviser to China.

"The Japanese government appointed Baron Sakatani financial adviser to the Peking government. Before taking this step, however, the Washington government was "gounded" on the question. Viscount Ishii, it appears, reported to Tokio that Washington had no objection to the appointment. Later, Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, the American minister to China, entered a protest to the naming of Baron Sakatani.

This led to inquiries at Washington and it transpired that a misunderstanding had occurred and that the American government had not approved the appointment.

Viscount Ishii, who had the contrary impression, was much embarrassed and requested a leave of absence. The entire question was explained as due to language difficulty.

Viscount Ishii is regarded here as a very able diplomat and efforts will be made to induce him to remain in the service as Japan's representative at Washington.

CHILDREN FIND MANY NEW BIRDS ON HIKE TO WOODS

[BY WALTER W. FELTUS.]
Twenty-five enthusiastic grade-school students took part in the Gazette club bird hike yesterday. Alonzo Pond was in charge of the group. At 4:15 the hikers started from the library, going out North Main street and at Goose Island were reached. While the hikers roamed about over Goose Island, the following birds were either seen or heard: bank swallow, American gold-finch, white-rumped, red-winged black-bird, barn swallow, black cat, yellow warbler, song sparrow, cow bird, and Baltimore oriole.

The hikers displayed quite a little interest in the birds, especially when they were trying to decide the variety. Perhaps the hardest to guess was the black tern, almost every name but the right one being suggested, until one of Mr. Pond's hikers gave the key to the right name. Mr. Pond carried a pair of field glasses, and the species of several birds were determined only by use of the glasses.

Today, a member of the bird club are on an all day hike up the river. They will stop in the vicinity of the stone quarry out on the bluff street, Mr. Pond's hikers are identifying about 30 different kinds of birds today, and as the hikers of yesterday expressed it to "go over the top."

WISCONSIN DAY" PROCLAMATION ISSUED
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, May 24.—Gov. E. L. Philipp has issued the following "Wisconsin Day" proclamation:
"I take this occasion to remind the people that the 29th day of May, 1919, will be the seventieth anniversary of the admission of our state to the Union.
"As citizens of Wisconsin we are all deeply interested in the future development of our great state, also in the history of the generations that have passed away, who were instrumental in its organization and who performed the great labor of converting a wilderness into a state known throughout the nation for its agricultural and industrial development.
"I do not wish it understood that I am here proclaiming a legal holiday. It is, nevertheless, fitting that we honor by words and deeds the memories of the men and women who made this state of Wisconsin possible, and who laid the foundation for our prosperity. We therefore call upon schools and colleges, civic societies and other organizations and the press of the state to observe Wisconsin Day in order that the younger generation may truly understand the Wisconsin spirit.
"Finally let us all glory in the achievements of this our commonwealth and resolve that our state shall move forward in all matters that benefit mankind, and that we may preserve for all time the well-earned reputation of being an honest, industrious and enlightened people.
"I wish to further recommend that our schools review the achievements of our gallant soldiers and sailors who are now returning to us, and that patriotic work be carried on by our citizens during the gloomy days of the world war. The history of the state's co-operation is fresh in our minds now and should be transmitted to our children, that they may have a proper conception of meaning of citizenship and the duties that it places upon all those who wish to enjoy that privilege."

OPENING TUESDAY

The formal opening of the Janesville Country club will take place Tuesday, when a series of events has been planned for the entertainment of the members. The first women's bridge game will be held in the afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. Putting contests at 8:30 o'clock on the putting green will be carried on as usual.

At 6:30 it is expected that at least a hundred members will partake of the club supper which will be served under the supervision of Mrs. Bernard Pufahl who has had several years' experience in catering for this club.

An orchestra of three pieces under the direction of Howard Clithero and Miss Ann Sullivan will furnish excellent dance music throughout the evening.

The club house has been beautified by fresh paint, window-boxes of pink geraniums and trailing vines, while the huge grate-fire and quantities of cut flowers will add to the attractiveness of the occasion.

In addition to completing plans for watering the greens, many new lockers have been purchased for both the men's and the women's lockers rooms to take care of the greatly increased golf playing membership. Practically all of the stock of the club has been sold and there is a waiting list of those who would like to buy shares.

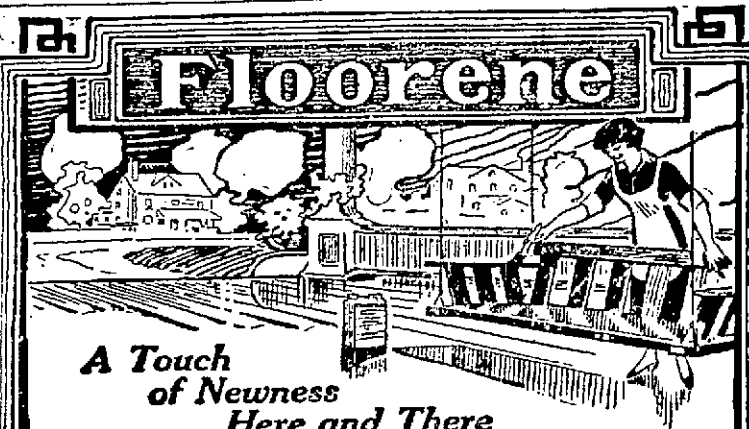

The house-committee composed of Mrs. Warren Wheelock, chairman; Mrs. Sue Wilcox, Mrs. Stanley Tullman, Mrs. D. W. Holmes, Mrs. Stanley Dunwiddie will have charge of the supper Tuesday evening. Those wishing to make reservations for supper are asked to notify the chef the day before as much as possible, as people will be served in the order of reservation.

THE STUCCO OF PERMANENT BEAUTYThe Heel of Achilles
in Tires

The weak spot in a tire is where tread stops and sidewall begins.

On any road but smooth, flat pavement, the spears of the road—stones and broken rock—are constantly jabbing at this Heel of Achilles. And the sides of wagon tracks, when you ride ruts, grind wickedly at vulnerable flanks.

Your eyesight tells you that. Now look at the SAFETY TREAD of Goodrich Tires. See how it spreads the Goodrich interlocking safety bars beyond the ball of the tire, and lays extra tread rubber along the sidewall.

Notice further, how the extra wide tread carries on up the sides of the tire, extending beneath the sidestrips.

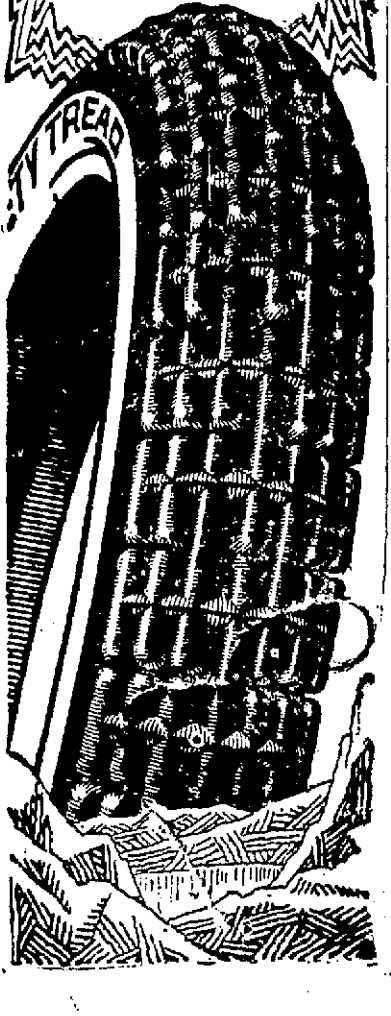

Thus an extra thickness of tough tread rubber fortifies Goodrich Tires at the Heel of Achilles.

Remember, that is one of the many reasons why Goodrich Tires lead in mileage over all roads, rough or smooth.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

The following from the pen of Louise A. Ford abounds with sentiment which appeals to the heart. Mrs. Ford has been a contributor to metropolitan papers for some years and the readers of this column will find in her observations much of interest and consolation.

LIFE'S COMMON THINGS.

The things of every day are so sweet,
The morning meadow wet with dew,
The dance of daisies in the moon,
The blue of far off hills where twilight shadows lie.
The night with all its tender mystery of sound and silence,
God's starry sky. O life—the whole life is far too fleet,
The things of every day life are so sweet,
The common things of life are all so dear.
The working in the warm half gloom
To find again the old familiar room,
The scents and sounds that never tire,
The homely work—the plans—
The lilt of baby's laugh,
The crackle of the open fire,
The waiting, then the footsteps coming near,
The opening door—the hand clasp—the kiss,
Is heaven not—after all—the now and here.
The common things of life are all so dear.

The pity of it, if by looking for heaven as way beyond, something glorious that we are not fitted for, we should miss touches of heaven in the common things of life that come to us all, by not enjoying and being grateful as we pass along. Could anything in heaven be more beautiful than these glorious mornings with the budding trees, apple blossoms so pink and sweet—and the vivid colored tulips that have been under ice and snow in the dark ground at the first breath of spring come to cheer and delight and over all the glorious sunshine. Then the old familiar room of our childhood days with the memories of mother everywhere. The room we were so anxious to leave for the sights and sounds of the world. The homely work and plans were just a touch of heaven that now we should appreciate. The lilt of a baby's laugh, could there be anything sweeter in the heaven we all hope to reach some time. The footsteps coming, the kiss and handclasp now that we have lost them we know it was heaven here. The common things are so dear if we only knew and enjoyed in the passing. The war may have the good effect of making us rejoice in the every day joys and being grateful for the common things. The sons of rich men joined hands with the working men; eating at the same mess table, going over the top side by side with never a thought of a difference in station. While society women and those of high station worked side by side in the hospitals caring day after day for the sick and wounded, the churches forgot their creeds and united to help the common cause. The real true religion seemed to be influencing all people. Now that the war is past let us hope that the spirit will continue that we may have heaven here and now.

"Miss Grace McWayne, a school teacher in Batavia, Ill. for fifty-two years, was taking dinner at a friend's house last night, when a group dropped in and gave $2,000 in Liberty bonds as a mark of esteem. The bonds were bought with contributions made by former pupils."

This article was found in the smallest type in an obscure corner of a popular newspaper, when it should have been on the front page in large headlines so that one who runs could read. Not for the money value it represents, although that is not to be scorned, but for the beautiful thought that stands back of the prompting the gift. A wonderful love between pupil and teacher.

All the years this kindness has been influencing and moulding character, until the gratitude for the love she gave to those boys and girls found expression in this gift. Think what that teacher's love and patience must have been to have sunk so deeply into the hearts of those pupils. Every mother knows how difficult it is to keep the boys in school, without the co-operation of the teacher, and thanks are due to those who by their tact and love keep them interested. It pays even if the harvest is delayed.

A father met for the first time a lady who had been a teacher. On being presented he said: "I have for years wanted to meet you and thank you for what you did for my boy in his school days. I had great difficulty in keeping him in school as he always seemed to dislike his teachers and never spoke well of them. I thought it was his fault and was very stern with him. I was too poor to send him to a private school and it was important that he should at least finish the grammar rooms. One day I was too startled to speak as he asked me for a dime to buy his teacher an orange. I just handed him the money with the thought that the millennium had come. He never gave me any further trouble about going to school and I have carried in my heart—thanks to you, although my boy has been dead many years."

It is so easy to win the heart of a boy by such little things, little attentions that cost nothing, scarcely an effort. Mr. Edison says: "It seems a good thing to be deaf, blind and dumb in dealing with boys." We are apt to expect too much, old heads on young shoulders as it were, when all they need is a little jolly and comradeship. As these boys when men are only "boys grown tall" they remember as the years pass. There are always such great possibilities around the corner that it pays to win the hearts of them. In our own public schools there was not a boy graduated for years. At last Prof. Mayne came with years of experience at his command. He found and remedied the fault and in the fourth year there were thirty-five boys in the class—better yet, they still continue in school through the years.

All honor to a teacher who can teach for fifty years and hold the love and gratitude of her pupils even when the hair has whitened. It has been said that one has outgrown his usefulness at forty, but this case does not prove it and if one can keep sweet and smiling the influence of years of experience can have a wonderful effect and make his work more efficient. Oh the wonder of it—that the love can keep fresh and pure in the heart for fifty years and go on down the ages. There is nothing like it. What a grand and glorious feeling to know that you have inspired such love by little acts of kindness as one passes along.

LIFE'S TOURISTS.
Over the road we're touring, travelers
One and all,
The towns of gladness are over
The night shall fall;
Some of us driving wisely, some of us jogging along,
Some of us racing madly, heedless
Of right or wrong,
But all us going somewhere, yes all in the self-same class,
Seeking the values of pleasure and the charm of a happy place.

Over the road we're touring, now on a level way,
With never a danger near us or a trouble to mar the day;
Then a turn and the road grows heavy and into the mire we swing,
And the wind blows cold in our faces and the rain has a bitter sting,
Then some of us lose our courage and some of us blindly steer

And some of us turn in a byway and wait for the road to clear.
Over life's road we are touring, and there's many a hill to climb,
And many a detour rugged to make
in the course of time,
And many an hour of trouble that each in his days shall know,
And the swiftest shall sometimes fall and find that his pace
is slow;
But the wise and the brave and faithful that have driven life's road with care
Shall come to the towns of gladness and rest in the valleys fair.

ROY E. MOULTON

THE POOL ON THE PAVEMENT.

All the long, dreary day the sky had wept.
Till o'er the world the night fell hushed and cool.
Then dried its tears—and on the pavement slept
A little pool.

Within its mimic depths the sudden glare
Of swaying street lamps scatters shimmering beams.
Till in the dark it lay once more, and there
Resumed its dream.

Overhead the clouds, unshepherded
and wild,
Parted and fled to the night hills
afar,
And in the pool's dim sky dawned
undimmed
One radiant star.

Anon a flower-decked bride passed on her way,
Her happy face reflected at her feet,
And a night prowler, like a bird of prey,
Sped through the street.

While glimmered in the pool as in a glass
The vision of the scarred and evil face,
Then, like a vapor vanishing, did pass
And leave no trace.

A drunken mother, cradling in her arm
A wailing infant, staggered slowly on,
Glimpsed in the pool her image with alarm,
Cursed, and was gone.

But now the clouds roll from the sky's vast blue,
The noise and tumult of the city
cease;
In the shrunk pool the star shines out
afar,
And night breathes peace.

of 1914. He had been graduated at the naval academy earlier, near the top of his class, and his ability advanced him rapidly in aviation. He not only won a place as one of the best pilots, but also as an administrator in the aviation division.
In October, 1917, the naval air station at Miami, Fla., was only partly completed and it was urgent that this work be pushed through as soon as possible. Commander Read was placed in charge, completed the station in a short time and organized the work. In the early part of 1918 he was ordered to Washington and put in the position of larger responsibility, the supply of material for all naval air stations. He was made a member of several important boards, including the test for heavier-than-air ma-

JOHN DOE, Farmer

Back in the 60's, John Doe, western farmer, exchanged nine pounds of pork for one gallon of kerosene. Today, for the same amount of pork he gets 12 gallons.
He paid 400 bushels of wheat for his first binder. Now about 120 bushels are necessary to purchase a modern binder.
He hauled 200 to 300 bushels of grain to market to pay the annual interest on his $1000 mortgage, but now for the same amount of wheat will take care of the interest.

We have dealt with these

TULSA, Okla., May 24.—P. J. Clark, a well-known moving picture operator here, has arranged to direct a photo-

The plot of the play will carry Starr from his early life to his release from the penitentiary, and will depict the folly of a life such as he lived, and will show his boyhood ambition to own a ranch.

WHITEWATER PLANS JULY 4 CELEBRATION

Whitewater, May 24.—A mass meeting of the citizens was held at the city hall last evening for the purpose of finding ways and means for a Fourth of July celebration. The meeting was a lively one and a large number of suggestions were made. Committees were appointed and soon everything will be in full swing.

SCHOOLS TO TAKE LEAD IN HEALTH WEEK OBSERVANCE

Elaborate plans for the observance of health week in a becoming and serious fashion have been made by the different committees which are working on various phases of the movement. The work will center around the extensive program outlined in the city schools where reading, writing, drawing lessons and every line of study will, as far as possible, be planned along these lines. Literature on health topics has been received by Mr. H. H. Faust, and some of it will be used for reading lessons afterward, being taken into the homes.

All the different units of civic activities have been planning the events of the week and the various committees have united their suggestions in a plan giving a few simple sanitary rules of health. Five to six thousand of these have been printed through the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club, and they will be placed in the hands of the school children and placed in every home where there are children. This was prepared largely through a sanitary committee consisting of Dr. George Fifield, Dr. Frank B. Smith, Dr. Snodgrass, and Dr. H. L. McCormack.

Mrs. Allen Lovejoy supplied the items on garbage disposal, Mrs. H. H. Faust on alloys, Mrs. W. A. Dunn on the health of the mother, Mrs. E. A. Spoon on co-operation of children in the work. The publicity work will begin Sunday, when a circular letter prepared by Rev. J. J. McFarlane will be placed in all the churches. Posters are being made in the schools under the supervision of the drawing teacher, Miss Ruth Brown, and they will be placed in prominent places by Miss Ruth Brown.

Window decoration of places of business, stores and so forth appropriate to the health week has been placed in charge of Mrs. Louis Levy. She will be assisted by the wives of prominent business men in the work. Tentative arrangements are being made for a parade in the afternoon at 4 o'clock. It will be shown at one or more of the local theatres in connection with the regular picture program. Notice of the date will be given later.

An especially helpful part of the health week program will be an address given at noon at the city hall by the library. It is especially intended for club women and the mothers of the school children and is part of a definite program of health outlined by the state board of health. The speaker is Miss Martha Riley, who is director of social service of the state board of health. She will be equipped with pamphlets, posters and all kinds of things which will help to bring her message home. It is also expected that she will arrange meetings for the high school boys and girls, which will be under the direction of the school, and announced later.

An especially efficient committee has been organized by Mrs. F. A. Spoon which is planning speakers for every day in the public schools. The speakers are to be physicians, dentists, an trained nurses. An enthusiastic committee has been working on plans for each building, raising up speakers. As far as possible Wednesday will be dental day.

The committees working in the schools are: Washington school, Mrs. J. E. Buckling, Cora Adams and St. Mary's parochial, Miss Agnes Weber; Jefferson, Mrs. L. A. Avery; Jackson building, Mrs. L. J. Cronin; Lincoln and Garfield schools, Mrs. D. J. Laby; Webster and St. Patrick's parochial, Miss Joanna Hayes; Douglas and St. Paul's Lutheran, Miss Evelyn Welsh; and the Grant school, Mrs. Roy Casslin.

All Dressed Up, Gaiety at High School

(By MARGARET O'BRIEN.)
Gowns that rivaled the artistry of Lady Duff wore on display at the high school exhibit yesterday and today. Every taste in fashion was catered to, from the puritanical modest frock.

The freshmen-sophomore dresses were mostly of gingham and linen. Several note book covers of color, face and neck, were also on display. The different weaves of cloth were shown.

In the junior-senior room was an even more gaily display of color. Fashion gowns were in view here. Organza and voiles dominated. Huge sashes and collars of white organza were used as trimmings for these light, "dresses" of color.

The color of the rainbow viewed, but flower designs were the most popular. Middie, skirts and waists, claimed their part in the show.

Most novel of all was the "make-over" department.

The eternal problem of making over the old dress was successfully solved by members of this department. So well were the dresses camouflaged that unless you chanced to glance at the sign up over the display you could not have recognized that they were not brand new.

Essays pointing out the reasons for home dressmaking were posted in the room. Those displayed were: "Eliza at Afton," "Why it is Cheaper to Make Your Own Clothes Than to Buy Them," "Gwendolyn Decker," "Reasons Why it is Better to Make Your Own Clothes," "Deborah Decker," "Why it is Cheaper to Make Your Own Clothes Than to Buy Them," "Marion Ryan," "Why I Prefer a Home-made Dress," "Eliza at Afton," "Why it is Cheaper to Make Your Own Clothes Than to Buy Them," "Gwendolyn FACTS ABOUT GEORGE BEBAN IN "HEARTS OF MEN"

*The picture restores GEORGE BEBAN to the screen after an absence of nearly a year.

*It is the first time he has had a real love affair on the screen.

*It is the first time MR. BEBAN has appeared in a production which he produced and directed entirely under his own auspices, and realizing that his artistic security was at stake, he made a tremendous effort to surpass all his former achievements of stage and screen. Critics agree that he has succeeded. GEORGE BEBAN is recognized as one of the foremost dramatic artists of the screen. His powers of appealing to the emotions are unsurpassed by any other screen favorite, and equalled by few.

*The heart interest of the picture is greatly augmented by the wonderful artistry and rare charm of BOB WHITE, the famous child actor, who in reality is GEORGE BEBAN JR. The scenes in which father and son appear in the common sorrows and joys which the plot allots to them are suffused with a tender note of sympathy that suddenly make a lump in the throat and as suddenly bring a smile to the lips and warmth to the heart. These scenes will undoubtedly be chronicled in screen annals as the ultimate art of silent expression and the highest form of screen technique.

*"HEARTS OF MEN" is primarily a play of optimism, of faith; it proves conclusively that every cloud has a silver lining, if we but take the trouble to turn it inside out; it interprets with an alternate note of pathos and humor the true philosophy of happiness.

Popular Shop Joke Cost Three Jokers $25 Each

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Belleville, Ill., May 24.—There is such a thing as carrying a joke too far. At least John Frahllich, aged 21 years, thinks so. That's why he swore out a warrant for the arrest of three fellow employees at a brewing plant here charging them with being guilty of "open lawlessness, disorderly conduct and a notorious act of public indecency, tending to debauch the public morals," because they treated him to a popular dinner-hour ceremonial. This ceremonial consisted in Krahllich being divested by force of a portion of his clothing, after which applications of muck and machine grease were made to his body. Brought into court the three offenders said it was only a joke and paid a $25 fine. Frahllich brought his clothes into court to substantiate his charges of abuse.

"SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS" DUE THIS SPRING

The History of the "Most Interesting Insect in the World" Goes Back To Ancient Times—Brood No. 10 of the Seventeen Year Family and Brood No. 18 Belonging to the Thirteen Year Group Now Due—The Insects Do Not Sting or Bite.

Copyright, 1919, The International Syndicate.

WHEN you hear the hum as of many airplanes this spring you will not need to run for the cellar as they did in France and England. It will be the periodical cicada, commonly misnamed the seventeen-year locust.

This is going to be one of the big locust years. The experts predict that it will approach the year 1888, which was the greatest locust year on record. There will be swarms in many parts of the country of both the 13 and 17-year variety just as there were right after the Civil War, and these two coming together will cause conditions approaching those of the previous record year.

The locust plague this year which will come in the latter part of May or early in June will cover most of the Eastern United States and the shrieking hosts will appear at about the same time throughout the entire territory.

Loss Inconsiderable

But in spite of their noise, their widely heralded approach, the superstitions and prophecies of ill which surround their coming and the fear of awful ravages, the toll of material loss which will result will be comparatively slight. True he makes a big noise and a lot of bluster. He fills the early summer air with screechings innumerable but he eats practically nothing and even if he had come during the war in the period of greatest food shortage, there would have been little to dread on his score. Mr. Hoover would not have found it necessary to get out an injunction against him or set Boy Scouts to work cleaning them up as fast as they appeared above ground, for the gauzy-winged insects would have made no perceptible dent in the nation's food supply. They suck a little juice from the leaves or branches of the trees on which they alight to deposit their eggs, but this amounts to little. The principal damage which they do is by the incision they make in the branches of the trees for depositing eggs; and this always appears to be greater than it actually is.

Only slight injury is done to large trees and this is but temporary. The American Forestry Association points out; but to young trees the result of the locusts' visit may be fatal. The only precaution which is urged, therefore, is that planting of young trees and orchards and pruning be deferred until the danger is past. There are other methods of control which may be followed. As soon as the cicada emerges from the ground it looks around for some plant or tree to climb, and so on any young trees it will be a comparatively simple matter to shake or pick the young insects off every day. This should be done early in the morning or late in the evening when they are somewhat torpid and sluggish. If repeated each day they will be within reach and can easily be gathered and destroyed. Some other ameliorative measures are sprays at the time of emergence, whitewashing of trees at the beginning of the laying period and wrapping young fruit trees with light cotton cloth, this cloth being wrapped around trees to within a few inches of the top. In orchards which can be fenced pigs are turned loose and these devour millions of the pupae as they emerge from the ground.

A Long Lived Insect

The periodical cicada may be said to be the longest lived of all insects. It spends approximately seventeen years, or thirteen years for some varieties, in a subterranean life in the larval or nymphal stage. Then millions of individuals attain maturity almost at the same moment and emerge for a noisy and strenuous existence above ground, terminating in exhaustion and death after about five weeks. The eggs from which this insect hatches is deposited in a slit in the young twigs of forest or fruit trees. Almost any tree or shrub or even herbaceous plant may be selected for this purpose, but a decided preference seems to be shown for oak, chestnut and hickory among the forest trees, and peach and apple among the orchard trees.

The egg of the cicada hatches in from six to seven weeks. The young active larvae work their way out of the egg shells and fall to the ground, where they establish themselves in earthen cells, adjacent to plant roots, and begin to feed by sucking the sap from the roots. Growth is very slow and the insects migrate from one place to another in search of food. They burrow to great depths—at times, having been taken up from a depth of ten feet or more. The majority of the larvae, however, do not go below the surface more than two or three feet. While they occur in great numbers on the roots of trees, it is seldom that any evidence of their feeding is observable above ground. The amount of food, no doubt, is quite small as the rate of growth would indicate.

There are six nymphal stages, four larval, and two pupal. At the expiration of the feeding period and the approach of the time for emergence, the insects begin to move upward.

Emergence in Early Spring

Early in April of the seventeenth (or the thirteenth) year of their lives, the pupae make their appearance near the top of the ground. They remain near the surface of the ground during April and early May. When they are ready to issue they may come directly to the surface through a hole or they may build chimneys or mounds of earth above the ground some weeks prior to their emergence. These chimneys or towers may range from a mere rim of earth to a chimney six or eight inches in height. When the pupae have finally reached that stage in their growth when they are ready to change to the adult, they leave their holes and rapidly ascend some elevated object, such as weeds, bushes, tree tops or fences. Most of the emergence occurs between nine o'clock and midnight and within an hour of their emergence the skin begins to split and the old pupal shell is cast off and left attached to the bark or object upon which the transformation takes place.

The adult immediately after the last molt is creamy white and soft in texture. In the course of the night this skin hardens and the insect assumes an almost entirely black color. The wings at first are soft, but during the night they become expanded and by morning are strong enough for flight.

Song Of The Cicada

The singing of the cicada is so characteristic that brief mention is here made of the method by which the sound is produced. Only the male cicada sings. Sound is produced by two drums situated one on either side of the abdomen. These drums are made to vibrate by powerful muscles within the abdomen and the tone is modified by smaller disks and by the elevation and depression of the abdomen. During the singing the abdomen is usually inflated apparently with air and elevated. The abdomen gradually is lowered until it finally touches the tree and the song ceases.

The seventeen-year locust has been studied for many years and records made of the appearance of the different "broods" as they are called, so that it can now be predicted just when there will be an invasion and what particular territory it will cover. The seventeen-year brood which is coming this year is known as Brood 10 and is perhaps the largest of the seventeen-year broods, while the thirteen-year brood also due this year is known as Brood 18. In the year 1888, the record locust year, the largest of both the thirteen-year and the seventeen-year broods appeared together, which was the reason for the unprecedented invasion. While this year's infestation will be exceptionally large it is not believed it will be as great as that of fifty-one years ago. The department of agriculture has long kept close track of all the broods of both families and so is able to tell with accuracy when and over what territory any brood will appear.

Originally it was supposed that they came only in seventeen-year cycles and it created considerable confusion until it was finally discovered that there was a thirteen as well as a seventeen-year variety of the cicada. This interesting fact was brought to light as long ago as 1845 by a Dr. D. L. Flares, of Woodville, Miss. There are thirty broods in all.

A Long History

To show how long they have been studying the cicada, it is interesting to note that they have the records of Brood 10—now on the way—ever since 1715. This has the widest distribution of any brood, the whole or portions of twenty States being included in its range. Beginning at the eastern extremity of Long Island it sweeps west and south to the Mississippi River at Cairo, Ill., and extends as far north as central Wisconsin and as far south as middle Georgia, with isolated colonies in upper Vermont and along the boundary line between Iowa and Nebraska. There are three regions of greater occurrence, one covering New Jersey, Maryland and eastern Pennsylvania; another covering all of Indiana, the greater part of Ohio and Southern Michigan; and a third covering Western North Carolina, Eastern Tennessee and Northern Georgia.

The FAMOUS APACHE TRAIL

Apache Indian Camp

One of the Oldest As Well As the Most Picturesque of Our Indian Trails Now a National Highway—An Ideal Motor Trip.

Copyright, 1919, The International Syndicate.

IF YOU would take a unique journey over a strange old trail which is just becoming known to the public, go for a ride over the Apache Trail of Arizona, that historic path which winds through a land rich in historic associations, and a country of remarkable natural grandeur.

There is no trail which was of greater interest to the hopes and fears of the American Indians than the Apache Trail, which today is reached by the Globe or Phoenix to Phoenix. This ancient highway has been transformed into a broad automobile road and over its smooth path—once the war path of the Indian—the modern automobile runs. Centuries ago bands of murderous raiders beat out this mountain highway. Today, the tourist rides one hundred and twenty miles in absolute security over a highway that is wide and safe, and which in places is shown out of solid rock.

Early Days

Did you ever read the story of the early days of that part of our country which today we call Arizona and New Mexico? If so, you know that this Apache Trail is where the cliff dwellers came long before the dawn of history. Some of these strange, ruined, fortress-like houses which were undoubtedly the home of a forgotten race are not far from the Apache Trail. Over this country passed the Toitons on their way to found an empire in the great country to the south which today we call Mexico. The bright armor and waving plumes of the conquistadores of Vasquez de Coronado also came that way seeking for gold and precious stones and later the Franciscan fathers, frontiersmen, pathfinders and scouts sought trails through this country and tried to utilize in a measure the old Apache Trail, which the Indians had beaten into a hard path.

It was this part of the country that Augustus Thomas chose for the setting of his realistic and admirable play "Arizona," and he chose the local coloring from the San Carlos agency, where today near their old trail, many of the Apaches live peacefully in this Indian Agency, which is situated on a mesa immediately below the junction of the San Carlos with the Gila River, thirty miles southeast of Globe and twenty miles north of Bowie. That these Apaches are willing to live at an agency shows the great changes of the past few years, for in reality the Apaches are a nomadic tribe or nomadic people, with little or no village life, dwelling in rude, temporary structures during winter and in primitive shelters during the summer. They are wanderers of the desert; who originally came from the banks of the Mackenzie River and the shores of the Great Lakes. Although they are peaceful now, for hundreds of years they maintained a hostile and warlike attitude and these Tonto Apaches held their ancient trail by power of might. This trail was a war path along which the Apaches galloped to their forays and even today the cowboys run their cattle on the hills nearby.

Used in Constructing Roosevelt Dam

It was chiefly for utilitarian reasons that the Apache Trail has been preserved for use today. When the United States Government decided to construct a large retaining dam on the headwaters of the Salt River in Arizona in order to irrigate thousands of fertile acres it could find no better route than the trail which the warlike Apaches had made hundreds of years ago. Now we have a splendid, mountain highway, winding through narrow and tortuous canyons which are overshadowed by high walls. It comes out over steep ridges and balances on the verge of precipices of feet, which one can look thousands of feet. The scenery is fascinating and every line of landscape is clearly marked as is common in the clear atmosphere of the wonderful southwest.

Magnificent Scenery

After breakfast at Globe the automobile leaves at eight in the morning for the Apache Trail trip. Luncheon is served at noon at The Lodge at the Roosevelt Dam, and Phoenix is reached at about six. It is an all day trip with a stop at the wonderful Roosevelt Dam, that large inland sea that furnishes water for the Salt River Valley, so that hundreds of farms can be reclaimed. Every one who takes this ride is impressed with the confusion of rocky heights, deep gorges and precipitous and varicolored rocks that seem to tower straight into the deep blue of a cloudless sky. There are bright colored rocks, gleaming as if studded with precious gems and metals, and there are darker cliff sides whereon the sun plays wonderful pranks so that the whole cliff seems irradiated with a sort of transcendent glory. Looking forward these tall cliffs seem to melt into the blue of the sky in such a way that each mile of the journey seems to bring one nearer the peaks whereas in reality it is but a trick of the rarified air. These peaks are too far away to be reached in many days. No less remarkable are the shadows which are cast in hollows and which are a part of the magic changes wrought by sun and shade. Over all broods the mysterious silence of desert and mountain. It is a silence that caused the Apaches to indulge in wild dances to propitiate the God of the Silence whose home he supposed was in the strangely carved rocks along the way. In particular the aboriginals thought that strange and horrible demons called to them from the Superstitious Mountains, which travelers admire today as one of the chief features of the Apache Trail trip.

Climax Of Trip

Other interesting places on this unique highway are Whirlpool Rock, which has been likened to a pyramid of writhing serpents turned to stone; Canyon Diablo, a dark crevasse in the mesa; the Old Woman's Shoe Butte; the Little Alps, Sierra Ancha, the Pinals, the Four Peaks, Geronimo Mountain and other striking mountain features. When the automobile road reaches the summit of Fish Creek Hill, fifteen miles west of Roosevelt Dam and high above a remarkable canyon it is generally thought that the climax of the trip has been reached, the view is so awe inspiring. The eye travels over a wide, wide space in which are innumerable hill tops, while down, down thousands of feet winds a stream between the cliffs which are in places covered with lichen and other spots radiant with mineral coloring. It is strange, fascinating, awesome.

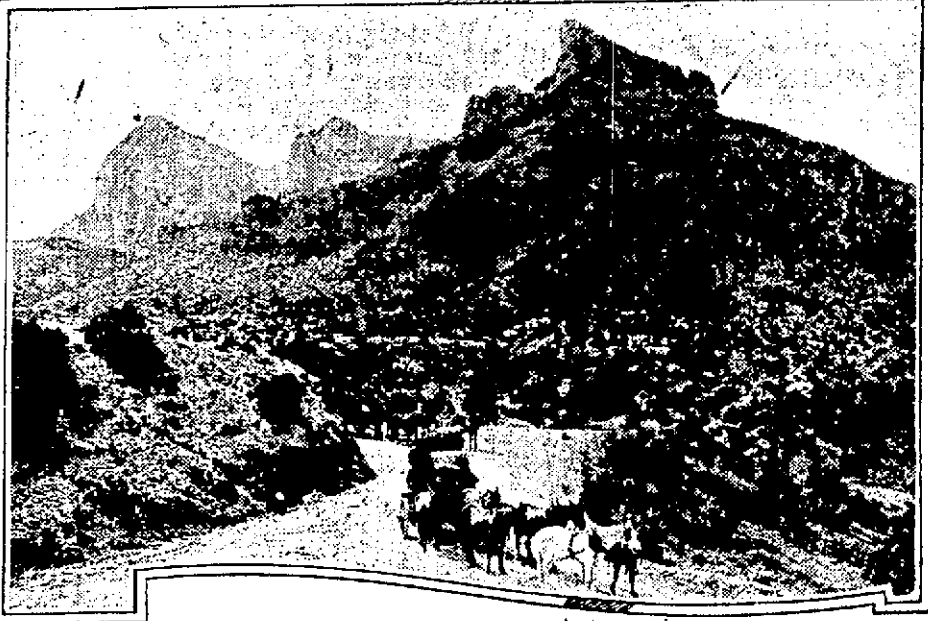

In this strange desert region trees in the shape of the strange giant cactus grow in groves and singly. At certain seasons of the year these sahuaro are radiant with red waxen blossoms. Around the Superstitious

Roosevelt Lake

Painted Cliffs from Near Fish Creek

Mountains Have Weird Shapes

Mountains there is a veritable garden of native plants indigenous to our arid Southwest. Here can be found the yucca or Spanish bayonet, the ocotilla, palo verde, cholla cactus and dozens of smaller varieties of desert plants which make a carpet of gay colors. But, of course, the chief object of interest on this old trail is that wonderful engineering feat, the Roosevelt Dam, which was constructed in the picturesque gorge of the Salt River, where it joins the canyon of Tonto Creek. The water which is conserved in this way waters the farms of the Salt River Valley and so large is the artificial body of water made by this dam that where is enough to water the valley for five years if no rain falls.

Roosevelt Dam

This great body of water is called Roosevelt Lake and there are small boats on it for short voyages around its expanse with stops at interesting places. Fishermen angle for black bass and salmon and there is always an attraction in the great stone dam which holds back the water and on top of which is a broad driveway over a thousand feet in length. There are tunnels, gates, spillways and the hydro-electric plant to be visited, but the crowning beauty are the snow white waterfalls which drop over the spillways full sixty feet into the lower canyon.

The cliff dwellings are of great ethnological, scientific and educational interest and when Theodore Roosevelt was president he set aside these prehistoric ruins for a National Monument. This Tonto National Monument cannot be injured, excavated or destroyed and this is a wise provision for no one knows how many thousands of years they have stood, with their massive walls, low doors, placed under leaning rocks and barricaded with prickly cactus. There are two main groups of these cliff dwellings, the first about a mile south of the Apache Trail and five miles east of the Roosevelt Dam. It is reached by automobile road and a short foot path.

Other Points Of Interest

One cannot go far on the Apache

Trail without becoming interested in the remarkable history of Arizona and all this part of Old America. Undoubtedly in remote times it was peopled by a race well advanced in civilization who tilled the soil, laid out irrigation ditches, and built picturesque cliff-dwellings. Then came the recorded history of the Spanish adventurer Cabeza de Vaca's wanderings across this section to Mexico City. This was along in 1536 and later Fray Marcos de Niza visited the region and told Coronado of its gold and treasures and so inspired him that he set out with three hundred men who, some historians say—penetrated as far North as Nebraska. In the sixteenth century military stations were established, missions were founded and because of warlike Indians, it was not until 1874 that Arizona began to fill up with white settlers.

Many stories are told of the encounters of the Apaches of this region with the peaceful Pimas and places are pointed out where fierce battles were fought. It is said that one of these bloody battlegrounds is now the floor of Roosevelt Lake. In this vicinity was enacted the horrible massacre of the Oatman family in 1881 and the captivity of Olive Oatman, who remained a captive for several years. But this reputation for ferocity and cunning should not be imposed on the entire tribe of Apaches for among the several bands only one or two were open to such criticism. At any rate these Indians today are peaceful and if one is fortunate enough to see any Apache Indians on the Apache Trail he finds a remnant of a race, the men of which are superstitious, prone to gambling and many of whom have figured well as scouts in our army.

The Great Nazimova at Apollo All Next Week

NAZIMOVA in "THE RED LANTERN"

Striving for perfection in her own work is not enough for Miss. All Nazimova, star of "The Red Lantern," which will be screened at the Apollo all next week. After painstaking care that every gesture, every expression of the face, every item in stage technique should be effective, the sensational screen star watches the other members of the cast with no less critical an eye than is applied to herself. The star's unceasing interest in making productions reach perfection is of great assistance to her directors. This practice has been Nazimova's for years. When presenting plays in New York it was her custom always to be at the theater at 10 o'clock in the morning, watching always the rehearsals of her supporting cast. There followed immediate advice; or, if the matter were one about which there might be discussion, the players met at the Russian artist's hotel, and so worked together until the production was artistically beyond reproach.

CARLE IN DISPLAY OF TEMPERMENT SPOILS MYERS' PERFORMANCE

(By HARRY V. ROSS)
Richard Carle had a good show at the Myers last night, but Carle's aim was not to do justice to his ability and reputation. It was evident that he did not consider Janesville as a theatre town worth his best efforts for he conducted himself on the stage in such a manner as to bring resentment from the house filled with intelligent men and women, who paid to see him perform.

Not only did he disappoint the many friends he had had in this community before his performance last night, but he placed Peter Myers, manager of the theatre, in an embarrassing position. Mr. Myers had given a personal guarantee that the last big attraction of the season would be first class. It would have been if Carle himself had not allowed his temperamental inclination to get the better of his art, and cast a wet blanket over the performance.

The first act was well along to its end when Carle became angry at his first act in which chorus responded merrily in which chorus responded merrily without warning walked off the stage. The curtain was rung down and after a delay of a few minutes the play proceeded. But the warm spirit with which the actors had been received was lost.

It is a pity that a man of Carle's attainments—with his ability to make an audience laugh and to get the better of his art, and cast a wet blanket over the performance.

Many of those in the audience had seen him in other productions and at his first entrance was given an ovation. It was because of this the disappointment was so keen.

The musical comedy in itself, "Purs and Prizes," was an excellent vehicle for a man of Carle's ability and character. At times the old Carle flashed out in some of the brighter spots of the piece and his friends recalled the days when he was at his best.

Much credit must be given to the other members of the company for the performance they gave despite the handicap put on by the star. Miss Dwyer, George Mages, Blanche Fox, Jay Blwood, Martha Craver and Clara Palmer deserve special mention for the aid they gave in making the performance endurable after Mr. Carle's exhibition. The music was fairly striking, the dialogue filled with witty sayings and the piece had a plot.

Mr. Myers should be complimented on his attempt to provide a first class attraction for Janesville, and has the sympathy of the audience for the little consideration shown him by Mr. Carle.

You Will Hear About the Essex

From the start we purposely avoided making claims for (the Essex. Our restraint was that of absolute confidence.

We knew it was certain to become popular, and that public favor would carry its fame further and with more effect than anything that could be written about it.

Therefore, we decided to let those who tried the Essex advertise it.

Today a rapidly multiplying army of friends is giving it the most powerful advertising known—disinterested, but enthusiastic, praise from living lips. From some of them you probably already have heard about the Essex; enough to make you curious and eager to examine and ride in it.

It is interesting to hear the Essex discussed from the view-points of widely diverging types of people.

What the User of Small Cars Has to Say

For instance, the man who has always owned a small car. He is the most enthusiastic of Essex admirers. It gives him a new sensation of power and stability. He likes its complete comfortable atmosphere. He does not hesitate to drive it over cobbled streets or rough roads. Squeaks and rattles are not annoyingly present in the Essex. He is proud of the easy way it passes more costly and more powerful cars in traffic because of its acceleration. The big, roomy seats, the fine finish, the handsome appointments—all appeal to his pride of ownership.

Owners of Large Cars Admire Essex Economy

You will hear other men compare the fine performance of the Essex with that of large high-priced automobiles. Certain features of Essex performance remind them of such-and-such fine car. Other points recall the gratifying behavior of other costly machines. And all are delighted with the low operating and upkeep costs.

It is because the Essex appeals to this universal love of comfort, beauty, power and pride of ownership, and brings them within reasonable economy, that it has won more friends perhaps than any other car ever did within the same length of time.

You will find much to admire and desire in the Essex, too. When are you coming for your demonstration?

The Evils Of Violent Operation

ATTENTION CANNOT BE TOO OFTEN CALLED TO THE destructive effects produced alike by starting and by stopping a car suddenly and inconsiderately. Too often, the starting operation is performed about like this. The clutch is pushed out and the gears are instantly jammed into mesh, with a clash, before they have stopped spinning. The engine is speeded until it buzzes and the clutch-pedal is allowed to snap back almost at its own speed. The passengers' necks are nearly dislocated, every transmission part receives a life-shortening jolt and the tires slip on the road, wearing down their tread rubber or loosening it and stressing the fabric more than would miles of legitimate service. When approaching the stopping point, speed is not slackened until within a few cars length's of it, when the brakes are jammed on with full power, the wheels lock and the car slides up to its destination, writing a record of the abuse in a flat spot on each rear tire, where the tread has just been "scuffed" off. This is admittedly an extreme description, but nearly as bad car abuse can be witnessed any day on any largely traveled street and it is given as an example of "how not to do it." Just reverse everything and it becomes a recipe for careful and considerate operation.

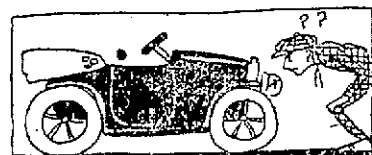

GENERATOR FUSE BLOWS

D. W. P. asks: What makes the fuse, used in connection with the generator of my car, burn out every once in a while? It has done it several times lately just when I shut down the engine.

Answer: Most likely this is caused by the occasional failure of the relay to disconnect the generator from the battery, when the former is running so slowly that it does not generate voltage equal to that of the latter. Under these conditions a very large current flows in the wrong direction, i. e., from the battery into the generator and the fuse melts out in order to protect the generator and battery from damage. Not knowing what electric system was running, I cannot say certainly, but it is possible that the relay spring-tension is weak or that the contacts stick together. You better have an electric service man look for this trouble and remedy it at once.

UNDERCHARGED BATTERY

J. L. P. writes: Lately the lights on my car have been somewhat dim, while the engine is stopped and I have noticed that they suddenly brighten when I speed up the engine a little. Does this mean that anything is wrong?

Answer: It indicates to us that your battery is undercharged. The sudden increase in brightness of your lights, of which you speak, is due to the fact that the generator voltage is considerably higher than that of the battery and when the generator is electrically connected to the system (as it is whenever the engine speed rises to a certain point), the lights burn at the higher generator voltage, with increased brilliancy. You should take measures to keep your battery fully charged, first making sure that it is in good condition and free from internal short-circuits and that there are no leaks in the wiring. It may be that your generator should be adjusted to furnish a larger charging current. This and any other adjustments needed can be made at any electrical service station.

FUEL FEED INQUIRY

L. E. W. writes: I have a car that has its gasoline tank under the front seat instead of at the rear, and sometimes, when there is only a little gasoline in it, there is no flow to the carburetor, on steep hills. What I wish to know is whether a vacuum tank system can be applied in this case.

Answer: Yes, the vacuum feed system can be made to operate under these conditions, as well as it can in connection with a rear mounted tank.

DEMOUNTABLE RIMS OR SPARE WHEEL

T. W. F. writes: I am thinking of improving the tire equipment of my Ford, which now carries the standard outfit. Do you recommend the demountable rim or the spare wheel equipment?

Answer: The 30 x 3 1/2 inch equipment on all four wheels is what you require. There is some difference of opinion as to whether the demountable rim or the spare wheel is the better, but the former should be rather lighter and perhaps somewhat more secure mechanically and personally we rather prefer it. However, in case of a wheel breakage, the latter possesses an obvious advantage.

Questions of general interest to motorists will be answered in this column, space permitting. Address Albert L. Clough, care of this office.

Camouflage Mourning Costs Spiritualists $200

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
St. Louis, Mo., May 24.—When a young woman dressed in mourning appeared April 1 before Moses Hell-scher, a spiritualist known as "Moses Hell-scher," little did he think that an April 1st joke was being played on him. He found it out when he was fined $200 and costs.

Policewoman Mary Gifford was the young mourner who visited Moses.

"Ah, my good woman, a great cloud is hanging over the spirit of your dear mother," Moses told her, she told the court. "Take off your camouflage because it won't do your mother any good. Spiritualism doesn't foster mourning."

Moses offered to remove the cloud for $25, but the mourner declared that she did not have $25, so took a $25 sentence and was told her husband was in trouble.

"How long has your mother been dead?" Moses asked her.

When she replied only 26 days she was told it would be impossible to call the spirits until the mother has been dead three months.

Another policewoman then entered and took Moses to the hold-over.

Locks His Wife in Closet, Then He Breaks Dishes

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
San Francisco, May 24.—Theodore Hazenkamp, chemist for the Berkeley Syrup Works, one locked Mrs. Gertrude Hazenkamp in a closet and took advantage of her imprisonment to break every dish in the house, according to the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Hazenkamp in the Superior Court recently.

Her complaint, filed by her attorney, alleges that when their daughter asked Hazenkamp to release her mother from the closet he answered by knocking her down the stairs.

Mrs. Hazenkamp alleges that her husband told her she was not fit to associate with his acquaintances. For long periods, she charges, he refused to speak to her.

A property settlement was made out of court.

The Hazenkamps were married in New York in 1907 and have two children.

Cop Becomes Bold, Bad Thief, But Has No Luck

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Chicago, May 24.—Bartholomae Riordan, while a member of the Chicago police force, had considerable experience with the brand of stick-up men who infest this city. He had arrested several of them and from stories told by their victims and by the highwaymen themselves he knew pretty well how they worked; but when he started out to follow the "hold-up profession," after leaving the force, he found himself out of luck the first hold-up he staged.

He made the mistake of trying to hold up a meek looking little woman—Mrs. Mary Roesch.

Riordan stopped Mrs. Roesch, poked a gun in her face and, just like the burglars he had often arrested, said: "Hands up. Give me all the money you have."

Now Mrs. Roesch had a particular use for the money she had and instead of complying like the victims who had often complained to former Patrolman Riordan, she grabbed Highwayman Riordan's gun from him and then turned on the screams.

Several men ran from their homes and took Riordan in charge.

He was later held by the grand jury in $5,000 bond.

TRANSPORTATION BILL FOR HIGHWAYS IS PASSED IN ASSEMBLY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, May 24.—At a session of the assembly late Friday afternoon the house passed the highway resolution creating a special joint legislative committee to investigate transportation on highways. The resolution says that there is in Wisconsin no law regulating commercial hauling on highways or the width, weight or tires of wagons and motor trucks engaged thereon and that the unrestricted use of highways by all kinds of vehicles is imposing a heavy burden on the public in the destruction of roads, especially in the spring, and in the imposition of high maintenance costs, and unless some regulation for commercial hauling is prescribed, destruction and serious impairment of highways will result.

In spite of the fact that the assembly had passed this resolution, several members of the senate claim that the resolution will not be concurred in because the senate committee on highways is already preparing a bill covering the subjects which is being considered in the Kellogg resolution.

The assembly has concurred in an amendment to the Coe bill compelling all counties to hire a public health nurse. This bill now goes to the governor. An amendment to the Porter bill permitting the holding of schools on Saturdays has been concurred in by the assembly and the bill will now go to Governor Philipp for his consideration.

The M. E. Johnson bill relating to the issuance of restraining orders and procedure thereon, and to limit the meaning of "conspiracy" in certain cases was tabled in the assembly to await consideration of a similar bill now pending before the senate.

The house killed the Weiman bill relating to the recording of deeds and other instruments of conveyance. The senate bill relating to the construction of certain statutes so as to permit collective bargaining in certain cases was laid over in the house until next Wednesday. The bill has been recommended for death with amendments by the senate.

The house passed the Vaughn bill to confer civil and criminal jurisdiction on the county court of Crawford county. The assembly will hold a session Monday evening to consider a number of bills of minor importance. The senate will not meet until Tuesday.

The assembly committee on elections Wednesday will give a hearing to the Huber bill permitting the closing of polls at 8 o'clock in rural districts. The measure is compulsory and provides that the closing of polls at 5 o'clock is the desire of the voting districts. Help the City Improve

The City Council has just ordered in about 2 miles of cement sidewalk. We respectfully solicit the business of those property owners who may be affected by this order.

We wish to inform the public generally that we use only the best grade of washed gravel for all our cement work. This good grade of gravel is secured from the Janesville Sand & Gravel Co. All our work is put in by using the latest type of cement mixer of which we now have two. This insures you of the proper mixing and all the lasting qualities which such a machine will naturally guarantee. Another thing which is important to the cement builder is the fact with all our modern machinery and efficient workers we save you time and money by doing all work quickly and cause you but a short time of inconvenience, if any.

No work too big or small for Tyler & Sherman. We may not be the cheapest, but we are the best. Our work will stand up. It speaks for itself. Be sure to get our prices, and consult us.

Remember, we do all kinds of cement work: Sidewalks, Curbs, Floors, Foundations, Etc.

Prompt, efficient service, executed by experienced, intelligent workmen. All work fully guaranteed. Estimates cheerfully given.

We respectfully solicit your business.

With the fastest crew of ballplayers that has been seen on a local diamond in two years, the Lawrence Lunch Janes will get their supreme test tomorrow afternoon when they meet the Edgerton Highway Trailers at the fair grounds diamonds. Action will start at 2 o'clock sharp.

Edgerton is coming down here with one of the biggest delegations of rooters that has ever accompanied any kind of a team here. More than 150 loyal fans have signed up to make the trip. The majority of them will come in autos making a young parade on the Edgerton-Janesville road.

All Edgerton is standing squarely back of the Highway Trailer line this year. A good sized sum of money was raised by voluntary subscription at the beginning of the season and the few games that have been played there this year have been well supported.

Manager Jimmie Murphy was in the "Tobacco City" Thursday and found things moving fast up there. Manager Smith of the Trailers had at that time nearly 150 fans all lined up to make the trip here.

Arrangements were completed today for a return game to be played at Edgerton, June 29.

Fielding is fast

The Janes will present the strongest battle front they have had so far. Fred Pierce, the former Indian university star will hold down the shortstop position plugging up the only stop position, plugging up the only position expected of him, especially with the stick, as he has a reputation for being quite a slugger.

Berigan, a Madison man, will be brought down to hold down first base. Efforts are being made to get Moose Kleinholz to take this job again Sunday but up to a late hour today it had not been definitely fixed.

With Miller on the keystone sack and Dopper on the third bag, the Janes have an infield that looks practically unbeatable. Dopper and Miller are fast fielders and accurate peggers. Each should be good for a couple of hits at least.

The outfield has been strengthened by the addition of Rice, Madison, in the right garden. With Herb Kakuske in center field and old faithful Sunny Viney near the left fence, the outfield seems to be well taken care of for tomorrow.

Eldred Will Pitch

Rube Eldred will probably start the game on the mound for the Janes with Tommie Crooke, the other Albany star, doing the relieving work. Eldred has won all but one of his games this year and has been pitching great ball the past two weeks. If the Rube can win over Edgerton tomorrow then he ought to have a regular berth with the Janes.

If he is not feeling fit, Allie Bick, young southpaw, will perform or possibly Georgia Berger. Either of these men is capable of producing some meek and can be relied upon to deliver.

Edgerton has gathered together about all the ball players there are in the northern part of Rock County and the southern part of Dane. They have been gradually weeded out until fast nine is left. The two Whitfords will pitch for Edgerton tomorrow. Olson's on the line-up, one a second string pitcher. Kachel of Whitewater Kachel will be remembered as the boy who was so anxious to play with the Janes several weeks ago. Rahn and other discouraging things kept him from getting a try-out.

Special service will be put on tomorrow by the streetcar company, cars leaving the Myers hotel corner every five minutes. The teams will alternate in practice from two o'clock until the game is called at 3 o'clock. Jimmie Murphy will probably umpire the battle.

Members of the Moose lodge will be guests of honor.

All Janes are requested by Manager Murphy to meet at the London hotel at 12:30 tomorrow noon.

ALL-STARS VS. FOX HALL SUNDAY P. M.

With a record of four straight victories the Junior All Stars will clash tomorrow afternoon with the Fox Hall nine. The Stars have been practicing nightly throughout the past week and are confident of victory.

The game will start promptly at 2:30 in the Fourth Ward park. The lineup of the teams will be:

Marksmen to Perform on Range Tomorrow

Members of the Janesville Rifle club will take part in the second shoot of the season at the Town Line bridge tomorrow morning.

The 8 o'clock interurban will leave on the 8 o'clock interurban. A score of more riflemen from Beloit will also be on the range tomorrow.

More than a dozen members of the local range will make the trip. S. B. Woodruff, secretary, said today.

AMERICAN AVIATOR TO RACE AT INDIANAPOLIS

LEUT. ARTHUR KLEIN

Fresh from Issoudoun, France, where he supervised the largest number of Liberty planes assembled at any European aviation camp, Lieut. Arthur Klein, driver of a Peugeot car in the Indianapolis 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes, carries the hopes of American aviators who follow the fortunes of this event.

Klein is a full-fledged pilot, having achieved his R. M. A. rating and pilot's license shortly after his arrival in Europe. He tried to enlist early in the war, but was rejected because of a slight physical defect. Persevering in the face of repeated rejections, he finally managed to get accepted, being commissioned as engineering officer in the aviation service.

Ground work did not appeal to Lieut. Klein, however, and when the armistice was signed, he was in process of being transferred to a pursuit squadron at the front. That the war ended before he had an opportunity to demonstrate his valor and become an American ace will always be Klein's one regret. Klein will, at least, attempt during the Liberty Sweepstakes race to demonstrate some of the tricks he acquired in airplane maneuvering, and is expected to rank as one of the favorites for first honors. He is not a new comer to the track, having competed in the 1913 and 1914 Indianapolis 500 mile events.

ALL-STARS MEET BELOIT NINE SUNDAY

The Janesville All-Stars will play their fifth game of the season tomorrow when they meet the Beloit Colorado Giants, at Hillcrest diamonds at the Gateway city.

Although the Giants were badly defeated by the Stars once this season, Manager Willis Scott says that he has secured a new battery from Rockford, which will keep the hits of the Stars few and far between. He also has added a few new infielders to his team.

Manager Bick will not make the trip to Beloit, as he leaves tonight for Rockford and other northern Illinois cities booking games for the summer months. He will probably be back in Janesville by the first of next week.

Either Hager or Bick will twirl for the All Stars with Wall and Crowley behind the bat. Fullerman, Marko, McGinley, and Babcock will make up the infield, while Graesslin, Zahn and Grady will cover the outer gardens.

HERMAN HANDS K. O. TO ERTL

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—Pete Herman of New Orleans, bantam-weight champion, knocked out John Ertle of St. Paul in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round fight here last night.

The first and second rounds were uneventful with Herman having the shade, and Ertle in the third round. In the fourth Herman put over a right cross to Ertle's jaw which sent the St. Paul boy to the floor for the count of nine. Another right cross followed and nine had been recorded when the bell saved Ertle. After a few seconds of fighting in the fifth Ertle was put down and out with another right/cross to the jaw.

ST. PAUL NINE WILL MEET WOOLEN MILLS

The newly organized C. M. and St. P. baseball team will play its second game of the season tomorrow, meeting the Woollen Mills nine at Bailey's woods, west of the Ramsey tractor plant at 2 o'clock sharp. The railroad nine rules the favorite.

Sarney will do the twirling for the rails while Pierson will twirl for the Woollen Mills. "Pants" Schaber will be behind the bat for the St. Paul nine with Cutts receiving Pierson's delivery.

GOLF CLUB INSTALLS GREENS SPRINKLERS

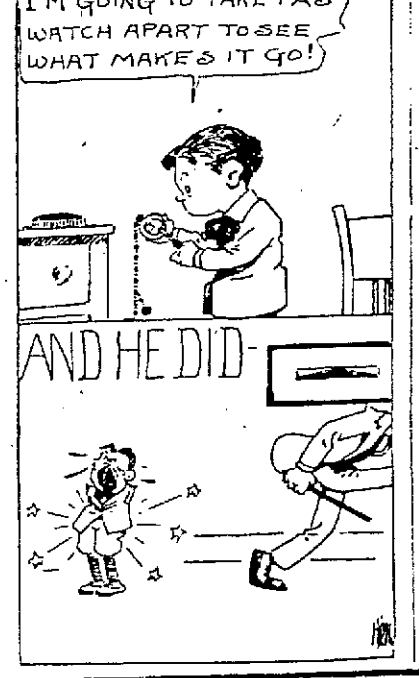

A sprinkling system which will make the putting greens of the Janesville Country club among the best in the state is being installed this year. It was designed by A. J. Adolph, Rockford and consists of a central plant consisting of an eight-inch well, a pressure tank with a capacity of 1,000 gallons, a long stroke pump and a gasoline pumping engine. This equipment costs about $1,500. In addition to this, about 4,000 feet of pipe ranging in dimensions from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 inches will be laid.

The Janesville Country club golf course has been noted for its fine fair greens but in dry weather the putting greens were not up to the average. The sprinkling system will overcome this handicap.

Additional lockers have been purchased and are on the way from the east. They will be installed soon after their arrival.

The opening of the club will be held Tuesday. A flag tournament will be held.

The same question was asked of wife. She made the same answer. John got $50 and costs.

Over the Hills and Far Away

Just a moment, while I turn the movie of memory on—the film of dreams.

Ha! The first railroad trip you ever took—a hundred miles. How wonderful the world looks—corn-rows, timothy-meadows, pickerel-ponds, and weedy waysides flashing with redwings! Men are mowing in the marshes, boys are huckleberrying, and cities are seen lying far away in their blue smoke.

See that girl opposite. Pretty, isn't she? She has glanced at you several times. Now she gets off at this little country station, and an old farmer meets her. And just as your train pulls out, she turns and looks at you—

Pshaw, the film's run out! Yes, Father Time wound it up years ago, and "she" has probably long forgotten. But you can summon her back from dreamland, by lighting up a Senero, the cigar of pleasant memories.
